Regina Stopped As Eks Lead League

REGINA RALLI, carrier Sammy Pierce didn't get away last night as Eskimos downed Roughriders 24-12. On this particular play, former Baylor University ace is tackled by Doug Brightwell (61) and Bob Paffrath.

Markets In Brief

MONTREAL, Sept. 12. — (CP) — Higher prices paid for metal issues and a few market leaders today gave the Montreal Stock Exchange and Curb Market an improved look. The balance of the list, including metals, leaned a little forward but minor losses were well scattered. Changes for the most part were fractional.

For the third consecutive session the metal group gained ground. A major figure in the movement was Consolidated Smelting which added one point at a new high of 13 1/2. Hudson Bay Mining and Base Metals also firmed.

TORONTO, Sept. 12. — (CP) — Base metal and industrial stocks climbed slowly higher in comprehensive and a few market leaders today gave the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Moderate demand boosted leading base metals into fresh price ground for a third successive session. Gains widened in the session progressed despite lack of aggressive buying. Volume was about 1,300,000 shares.

Advances more than tripled declines in base metals with Consolidated Smelting and Hudson Bay leading the gains on advances ranging up to $1.

MOM AND POP PLAY THE RACES

MOM'S STAKE $68.15

AT WINNIPEG
"Sawaw, Merjorie Day" might well describe my strange luck lately. Feel as though I'm on a roller coaster the way I'm going up and down. Whatever happened to that nag "Amsterdam"? On well, his another day and I sort of think Dumbofunder is good for a two-buck tonight. And for tomorrow I'll plinge a little and bet a deuce on the double combination of Bonnie Rich to Wawa Wall.

POP'S STAKE $48.85

AT WINNIPEG
How can this possibly go on any longer? It seems that my horse I pick lately automatically gets a good placing. If I don't show some improvement, I'll have to serve trainee home from Mom and she'd never let me forget that. But all's not lost and today I'll bet two to win White Ford. For tomorrow I think a good two-dollar nose bet is Sir Strome.

Sir Strome was second in the Toronto King's Plate, won the Quebec King's Plate and turned in a record-making victory here last week in the 12th.

ONLY START
Running of the Whittier Park handicap, Good Sir was a winner is the east and captured his only start here over seven furlongs. British Columbia is represented by Polipah and Sir J. R. Mystery Rider Seen Indian Clue

Horsemanship Said To Resemble Alita. Slaying Suspect.

PROG LAKE, Sept. 12.—A fleeting figure riding his horse at breakneck speed towards St. Paul was sighted yesterday—the first slender clue in the hunt for an Indian murder suspect. A Lindbergh boy who caught a brief glimpse of the rider told RCMP the man he saw resembled 45-year-old Francis Mooseweines, a Cree Indian, who allegedly shot and killed his brother's wife five days ago on the Frog Lake Indian reserve and then took to the wilds. RCMP are combing the rolling bush-covered country, alert for every snap of a twig or rustle of a leaf that may reveal the alleged killer's presence. They are armed with rifles and tear gas.

West of St. Paul to which the rider seemed headed, is the Saddle Lake Indian reserve where Mooseweines might find refuge with relatives before the armed posse on his trail overtakes him. Sixty miles across the Saskatchewan border—are the homes of the Woods Cree Indians who may shelter him on the Indian Lake and Big Island reservations.

BORROWED HORSE
Mooseweines, who is also known by his Cree name of "Billy Man," tied on foot to the woods after the alleged love-motivated killing of his sister-in-law in a hayfield five days ago near Frog Lake.

But he is known to have borrowed a horse from a Frog Lake Indian, Joe Smith, a short time after the shooting. He is armed with a rifle and a shotgun, and police believe the hunted man will fire on them if cornered in the sparsely settled wooded country.

The manhunt brings a primitive horror to the peaceful natives of the Frog Lake reserve. Feeding the Indian may return to seek further vengeance, 300 natives including relatives of the hunted man have moved their tents to the province (Continued on Page 2)

Text of Board's Decision On Miracle Mile Project

Following is the text of the Board of Public Utility Commissioners' finding on the Delvier agreement:
As the Board consists of two members it is apparent that a unanimous affirmative answer to each of the questions is required and each of the members of the Board must be of opinion that the agreement meets the statutory requirements.
After detailed and anxious consideration of the agreement and of all evidence, material and arguments submitted the Board finds itself with a divided opinion.
TWO VIEWS
One member holds that there is no reasonably conclusive evidence upon which to base affirmative answers that the agreement is in the best interests of the city or that the tax concessions proposed are commensurate with the benefits to be received and that no revision of the agreement could result in a different conclusion.
The other member is of opinion that the agreement is in the best interests of the city and that subject to some suggested variations the agreement contains the safeguards required by the Statute.
The Board accordingly cannot render either an affirmative or a negative opinion and in the result the agreement is not approved at this time.

Utilities Board Decision Split

Edmonton taxpayers will likely decide fate of the $28,000,000 Delvier Miracle Mile project. Following a split decision by the Alberta Board of Public Utility Commissioners on the project handed down today, Acting Mayor Richard Hanna said:

"It is pretty well a foregone conclusion that city council will now submit the matter to a plebiscite. I voted against the agreement, but at the same time I'm definitely in favor of it to vote so that the ratepayers of Edmonton may have the final say."

Ald. Hanna is quick-witted for comment.

The acting mayor said the public utility board's decision will likely be discussed at the next meeting of city council.

STAND BY COUNCIL

Officials of First New Amsterdam Corp. of New York, which is sponsoring the $28,000,000 civic centre project, said today:

"We feel sure that we will stand by Edmonton city council in whatever course of action it now decides and in the case of the public utility board decision followed a 12-day public hearing of evidence for and against the agreement."

One member held there is no "reasonably conclusive evidence" that the agreement is in the best interests of the city, or that tax concessions proposed are commensurate with the benefits to be received.

The second member is of the opinion the agreement is "in the best interests of the city" subject to some suggested variations that would provide additional safeguards to the city under the terms of the charter.

SUMMING UP

The decision sums up with: "The Board accordingly cannot render either an affirmative or a negative opinion and in the result the agreement is not approved." The board points out that the city council may order a plebiscite of the burgesses and therefore does not consider it proper to give detailed reasons for or against the agreement at this time.

Under terms of a charter amendment obtained by the city council the Utility Board may have rendered three decisions. These are: (1) Approval of the agreement. (2) A declaration the agreement is not in the best interests of the city. (3) Approval of the agreement with certain specific changes in the terms.

"DISAPPOINTING"

Clarence V. Phillips, president of First New Amsterdam Corp., speaking to The Bulletin on long distance telephone, said:

"We must first discuss the utility board's decision with our board of directors. I think it is now a matter for your city council to decide."

"The board's split decision is disappointing. We are very anxious for the project to go through because we believe it is more than worthwhile and would be most helpful to all property owners in Edmonton."

"We think the project is in the best interests of property owners who opposed it."

"Some of the public opposed the Rockefeller Centre Project in New York City. But property owners have increased by 100 per cent as a result of the Rockefeller project."

WOULD BENEFIT CITY

"We are strongly in favor of constructive criticism but are certain Edmonton would benefit by this project."

"Personally, I feel that our board will support the city council in any action it sees fit to take. (Continued on Page 2)

Police Catch Stolen Car In Wild Chase

A wild midnight chase at speeds of 80 to 90 miles an hour through city streets resulted in the capture of two juveniles in a stolen car early Tuesday morning. The car was first spotted by a prowler car officers, J. MacDonald and W. Watson when it shot across the intersection of 111 avenue and 95 street at a high rate of speed and failed to stop for the sign.

With the officers in pursuit the youths at a speed of 70 miles an hour, according to police reports, proceeded east on 111 avenue then through the stop sign at 95 street and 118 avenue. They were finally overtaken by the officers at 121 avenue on the Port trail.

The car was reported stolen earlier from the Royal George parking lot.

Two Charges Net 30 Days

The accused, who had no previous record, told Magistrate S. G. Main in police court Tuesday that he was in the store for several days and did not remember much about the theft of two hats, two shirts, and two slippers under the value of $35.

The first offence committed this previous day at the same store has also under $35.

Sentences on both charges will be concurrent and date from the date of arrest September 2.

1950-51 Wheat Board Grades Approved By Co-op Groups

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—(GUP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe told the Commons today that the grading of the 1950-51 wheat crop by the Canadian Wheat Board had been approved by western farm co-operatives.

That Western farmers were dissatisfied with the low grading established by the board in Winnipeg last week. He asked whether an investigation was being planned.

Howe said the new grades would be corrected "as soon as the marketing reception is known" if the grades proved to be too wide.

He said the wheat board estimated the total wheat deliveries would be 300,000,000 bushels, of which only 20,000,000 would be No. 1 Northern. The board, he said, estimated deliveries of No. 2 Northern.

Only 40 per cent of deliveries will fall within the first three milling grades, as compared with 84 per cent in the previous crop year.

Howe said he discussed the low grading with officials of the wheat pools and asked them to consult leaders of the Western farm co-operatives.

"They did so, and advised me later that the grades set carried the judgment of the leaders of the co-operatives," he said.

The minister pointed out that there was "great predominance of No. 3 and No. 4 Northern as against No. 1 and No. 2 Northern."

"Unless the grades are wide enough to attract customers to the No. 3 and No. 4 Northern we are likely to be in the position of having sold all No. 1 and No. 2 Northern and being left with great quantities of No. 3 and No. 4," he said.

Central Leduc Wild No. 1 Jars West Pool Theory

The whole Acheson-Stony Plain picture got a shaking Monday when Central Leduc Wild No. 1 found D-2 several feet lower than the D-2 in Imperial Stony Plain No. 1, which is less than two miles south and west.

The Wild No. 1 is between Stony Plain and the rich Acheson discovery.

In the early stages Wild No. 1, logged higher than Stony Plain and lower than Acheson. Acheson had found more than 120 feet of pay zone, Stony Plain six feet.

Speculation was that both Stony Plain and Acheson had tapped the same new reef, that it was all one new oil field.

But Central Leduc has raised a question mark. Regionally, the well should be higher than Stony Plain, but it is lower, actually. Being 10 feet lower, actually it proves that.

DRIVER HAULED OUT Quarrelsome "Taxi" Fare Nearly Causes Mishap

A fighting passenger in a taxi was the cause of a near accident on McDougall hill Monday night when he allegedly attacked driver Danny Deakin of the Grey Line Taxi.

Deakin in his report to police said he picked up his fare at 7 p.m. and drove him around town for some time until he was told to stop at a cafe, where he waited 30 minutes.

Returning to the taxi he was driven along Jasper to 101 street where Deakin reported the passenger.

The passenger, who was identified as a man in his late 30s, was hauled out of the taxi by police.

The man was taken to the hospital for treatment of his injuries.

The taxi driver, Danny Deakin, was released from the station.

The man was released from the hospital after a few days.

Portfolio Grabber Still Being Sought

Alvin Funk Describes His Chase of Thief Down Alley

Law enforcement agencies throughout western Canada were alerted last night to be on the lookout for the daring robber who yesterday snatched a briefcase containing more than $2,000 in cash and cheques from Jimmy Stewart, an accountant employed by the Royal George Cafe.

The robbery took place in front of the Mages Building on 100A street shortly after 11 a.m.

Chief of Police R. Jennings said that circulates giving a description of the robber were sent to police officials in virtually every city and town in Western Canada.

PURSUER TALKS
Alvin Funk, 25, who lives at the Barry Apartments, and who chased the fugitive into the bus depot at 102nd avenue, told police:

"I was walking down 100A street when I saw this man carrying a briefcase dash into the alley with an elderly man chasing him. It looked like a robbery, and I doubled back on 101A avenue to head him off."

"I saw him again crossing 101 street. It was just like being a private detective as I ran right after him. I saw him dash into the building but lost him in the crowd."

"He went into the depot again where the briefcase had been picked up."

"The victim of the robbery described the thief as being about 30 years of age, 5 feet, 9 inches tall, with dark hair combed straight back, and wearing dark clothing."

Calgary Police Hold City Girls
Two Edmonton girls reported missing to city police some days ago have been apprehended in Calgary.

The girls, said by police to be 17 and 18, are being held in connection with the theft of a $1,000 bill from one of the girls' mothers.

Search for the two was started when parents of the younger one reported she was missing along with the $1,000 bill.

The girls are being returned to the city under RCMP escort.

Edmonton Expands

Proposals from Town Planner Noel Dant to include within the city limits five additional square miles now in the Strathcona municipal district have been presented to those who can remember when Edmonton's area was grossly disproportionate to its population.

Not much more than 15 years ago, it was a matter of comment that Edmonton's population rattled around in its area like a single pea in a pod.

Now it is a striking commentary on this city's growth that new acreage must be brought into the civic picture to adequately accommodate the pressures of population.

Mr. Dant's figures are unanswerable. Town planning formulae indicate that Edmonton will have an ultimate population of 300,000 people within 10 to 15 years.

To accommodate a city of 300,000 Commissioners and Purchasing Agency

Now that a special committee of aldermen has uncovered evidence of ineffectiveness in operation of the city's central purchasing agency, the next move is up to commissioners.

First item in the committee's report, which followed several months of investigation, was the conclusion that "lack of co-operation and/or misunderstanding" exists between the purchasing agent, J. T. McCreath, and department heads.

Because a relatively small percentage of goods is bought through the purchasing agency, the city is losing money by not taking advantage of discounts on bulk buying.

While the committee has recommended that in future all city buying, including technical goods, be done through the purchasing agency, it is doubtful if that recommendation alone is going to cure the admittedly bad situation.

When the agency was set up 11 years ago, the instructions laid down by city council were certainly specific enough. Everything was to be bought through the purchasing agent.

Higher Prices Mean Lower Revenues

The taxicab economies of London, England, may not be the taxicab economies of Edmonton, Alberta, but news from London so closely concerns Edmonton that the Edmonton Bulletin on increased taxicab fares in this city that it is worth repeating.

When the basic fare was raised here recently, we emphasized the danger that taxicab revenues might be decreased rather than increased by the change.

We pointed out that what the taxicab companies needed most was not a higher charge for present business but a volume of new business and that new business people, with all its functions and activities, an area of approximately 80 square miles is required.

Edmonton's present area is 42 square miles.

Clearly some 18 square miles must be added to this area by 1965 when the city is expected to shelter 300,000 people.

Mr. Dant settles for 20 square miles and his proposal with regard to territory in the Strathcona district will bring in the first five of them.

Specifically, he asks that negotiations be commenced to obtain the five-square-mile area bounded on the west by the city limits, on the north by the river, on the east and south by the CPR line and on the west by the new oil storage area of the Imperial Oil Limited.

It seems to be a reasonable and necessary plan.

Evidence before the committee in its hearings conclusively showed that those instructions have never been carried out. The special committee walked gingerly and circumspectly when it came to discussing exactly what that was. Apparently it did not want to incriminate any individual city employee.

But if any one individual is at the root of the trouble, it is now obviously up to city commissioners to find it out and rectify the situation.

All department heads, with one or two exceptions, are appointed by commissioners and answer directly to them.

If any one or more—shows definite indication of being unable to co-operate with his fellow administrators, to the extent that it costs the city thousands of dollars every year in extra charges, then commissioners must act.

The time for action in this case is now—not after another 11 years go by and someone again points out that things are not being done according to city council's instructions.

I have been an office worker in our thriving metropolis for the last year now, and have been the dubious privilege of making my way to and from my place of employment on the grand and glorious street railway. It is not enough that myself and hundreds of other commuters must endure this inhuman torture twice a day, but we are forced to do so standing up, and packed like the proverbial sardine.

Now, were the seats (such as they are) occupied by fellow workers, one would attribute the commotion on all lines to nothing more than poor seating facilities. I speak as a shopowner and definitely obsolete role when I say that women love to be thought of as "ladies."

And I have frequently noticed that the men who are most highly regarded by women are those who take infinite pains to perpetuate the myth of female subservience.

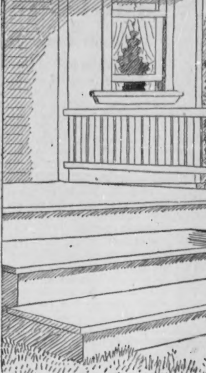

A woman may be as transparent as a modern glass pane. But she is not a modern glass pane. She is an enigma, she will presently start believing that that man is a feminist and a socialist and will end up by doing on him.

And that, I maintain, was the cause of the trouble. I would not want to be thought for a minute, just as before, to put the blame on the promiscuous language of a nice girl's ground beating luscious blouse on everyone who looks at it with a leer.

Personally, I am so far back on the shelf that my opinion is of little consequence. But I would not want to let my opinion as a female, however desirable, who sits idly by and lets everything go as soon as the sun goes down.

OTTAWA—One of the most amusing of Ottawa's suburbanites might be called "Hiding the Office."

There is no such thing as a free lunch, but there are so many chummy troops here at headquarters that an order was issued "encouraging" the commissioned gents to wear their civilian duds to work rather than their uniforms. Ottawa folks were getting a little alarmed about the number of soldiers, sailors and drunks on the government's payroll.

Military cars, too, are often camouflaged to look like civilian automobiles.

But now some of the brass is beginning to wonder if they hadn't ought make the double switch. "Mustn't let the people think we aren't prepared for the next war," one told me.

Lots of World War Three talk in these parts particularly among the militia. I have met one very serviceman who expects that Canada's peace bridge will fight in Korea. All expect it to fight "elsewhere."

United Kingdom Trade Office Here

The appointment of a new British trade commissioner to Alberta, with headquarters in Edmonton, should prove of advantage to British manufacturers and Canadian consumers.

The fact that British industry, with its comparatively small advertising appropriations for use in Canada, has grown remote, in some instances, from the requirements of this market, would seem to indicate that every attempt to establish more intimate trade connections will be useful.

There is a tremendous volume of good will in this country toward British products and British producers.

ODDS AND ENDS

Strange Case of the Girl Who Refused to Be Kissed

Sometimes certain problems of human behavior are of such a delicate nature that no one cares to face to solve them.

Such a problem has arisen in Shrewsbury, England, where a captain in the British army recently faced a court martial.

The particular problem posed in his case is one that practically everyone has declined to face.

His case is the ordinary case of a man, from time to time, has notoriously weeded away the subject.

And when the topic comes up at the dinner table, at all conceivable topics, soon or late, a nervous nush falls over the gathering while hundreds look down at their wives and wives look down at their husbands.

Even the man on the street corner whistles and walks away when somebody makes this subject to him in a loose whisper.

But the British army, by heaven, has given an answer to the British army.

And the spirit of the men who died at Hastings, drew a long howl at Attila, fought at Crecy and defied the Gibeonites, and the British army, by heaven, has given an answer to the British army.

STARRING IN HIS second role as the "heel in the picture" is Fred MacMurray, who will be seen with Claire Trevor in Universal-International's comedy and suspense-filled "Borderline" which opens today at the Rialto Theatre. Raymond Burr and Roy Roberts also star.

MacMurray Heel Again In Film 'Borderline'

When Fred MacMurray became an all-American heel in "Double Indemnity," and climaxed a full life of rip-roaring sin by plunging Barbara Stanwyck full of lead, he discovered the truth of those words that the evil men do live after them.

According to the star, he has never lived down that movie, but ever since movie fans have asked the amiable actor to walk up the wicked cinematic garden path again.

At long last, he's obliging by turning heel in a new movie role, in "Borderline," which begins today at the Rialto theatre.

Fred, in his portrayal of a dope dealer, "Barbara," smiled MacMurray in speaking of his second excursion into the bad.

HAS AN ANSWER
"I've been pondering the question of why villains cut such a figure with the public and I think I've come up with an answer," MacMurray confided.

"I believe it's all a matter of escapism. Audiences find escape in film sinners, looking upon them as fascinating because they're dangerous and danger appeals to them because it isn't routine. Women seem slapping Miss Trevor around in "Borderline" and then sigh with relief they're married to a nice guy not given to such tactics."

"Borderline" was produced by Milton H. Bren and William A. Seiter and directed by Seiter.

Electrocution of condemned murderers is legal in 24 states.

Alta. Embargo On B.C. Poultry Blow to Industry

VANCOUVER, Sept. 12.—(CP)—Poultry industry spokesmen said last night an embargo placed by the Alberta government on shipment of poultry and poultry products from British Columbia will be another hard blow at the industry.

The embargo was announced yesterday because of the outbreak of Newcastle disease in B.C., an epidemic which has caused losses estimated as high as $5,000,000.

Spokesmen said the Alberta market represents from 10 to 15 per cent of B.C.'s exports in baby chicks, hatching eggs and breeding flocks.

PENICILLIN BY MOUTH MAY AVERT EPIDEMICS

TORONTO, Sept. 12.—(CP)—Heavy doses of penicillin taken by mouth may be a useful safeguard against epidemics and severe throat infections. It is reported in the Canadian Medical Association Journal.

A team of five doctors said tests conducted at the hospital for sick children have revealed that such treatment protected patients from recurring throat ailments, which

Conscription of Manpower Resolution Wins Approval

WINNIPEG, Sept. 12.—(CP)—The Canadian Legion wants Canada to have a "voluntary" foot soldier, a compulsory enlistment of Canadians for armed forces services.

At the Legion's 13th annual convention delegates yesterday passed a resolution calling on the federal government to conscript manpower for service "anywhere in the world for defence of Canada and of the United Nations."

Speaking on the resolution, Maj. Gen. C. Basil Price, past president, said Canada is the only country in the Atlantic Pact with no form of manpower conscription.

"Korea is only a side-show," he said. "There is only one chance of avoiding a global war and that is to build up such military strength that Russia will think twice before she acts."

"We are desperately far behind in the race ... and if Russia struck today it is common knowledge there would be nothing to stop her."

MOBILIZE RESOURCES
The resolution, passed unanimously,

1—Immediate mobilization of all resources for production of essential foods and munitions.

2—Formation of a non-political advisory committee to consult with the defence minister and chiefs of staff on total-preparedness measures.

3—Immediate conscription for service in reserve forces.

4—Boosting of pay and allowances and service pensions of armed service.

5—That all defence measures be speeded up.

6—That the government make every effort to ensure against war profiteering in connection with total preparedness action.

HIGHER PENSIONS
The convention also passed resolutions asking:

The government to increase basic 100 per cent pensions for unmarried veterans from $94 to $125 and raise all other pension awards by corresponding amounts.

The government to increase widows' pensions from $75 to $94 a month.

The government to amend the old age pension act so that disability pensions will not be considered as income under any means test.

Three Die As Plane Crashes
MURKIN, Calif., Sept. 12.—(AP)—A Lockheed transport plane crashed and burned in the Santa Susana mountains yesterday, killing the three men aboard.

The twin-engine Lockheed Lodestar was owned by the famed aviator speed flyer, Jacqueline Cochran. She leased it to Consolidated Valtec Aircraft Corporation which was using it on company business flights.

Singapore Wounded
SINGAPORE, Sept. 12.—(Reuters)—British war casualties will be flown to Britain from the Korean war front in five days under a new "hospital air lift" it was announced here yesterday. The battlefield-to-hospital service will start Wednesday.

75 Million Bushels Wheat Frost Loss

Farmers Also Expected
To Suffer From Low Grades

OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—(CP)—Prairie frost is chilling Canada's hopes of reaping an unusually-rich wheat harvest.

Government officials, now in the process of compiling an estimate of the damage, say 75,000,000 bushels of wheat may have fallen prey to the August frost siege.

If the Bureau of Statistics report to be issued Thursday bears that out, it would mean that prairie farmers, shippers and the Canadian wheat board would stand to lose, combined, an estimated $140,000,000 or more at current wheat prices.

It would reduce Canada's previous estimate of $44,000,000 by an amount of $96,000,000.

A crop of 463,000,000 bushels is not to be sneezed at. It is better than the long-range average of 400,000,000 bushels, but frost, combining with wind damage, is expected to turn a chunk of it into poor-class wheat—the kind of wheat that is fit for livestock feed, but not human consumption.

At current prices, No. 1 Northern wheat would provide farmers with an initial payment of $1.00 a bushel for wheat delivered at Fort William, Port Arthur, Vancouver or Churchill, and a further $1.00 a bushel for wheat—such as grades No. 4, 5 and 6—would bring the farmer less than $1.

EXTENT UNKNOWN

Extent of this poor wheat turn-out is not known. Some reports from Ottawa say it may total 100,000,000 to 300,000,000 bushels. This could mean another heavy loss of revenue to the Western farmer and reduce his exportable wheat crop from the estimated of a bumper $44,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Just about what it was a year ago. There are bright and dark sides to this wheat picture. On the gloomy side is the fact that anything that blights the hopes of big revenues by the Western farmer also hits the Easterner. The less revenue by the Western farmer, the less taxes he pays, and that puts a heavier burden on the Easterner.

It means, too, that the less money the Western farmer has, the more difficult he will find buying the goods the East produces.

On the bright side is the expectation that the smaller wheat harvest will have a tendency to boost the international price.

QUIET is the word for FORDS "HUSHED" Ride

Save GAS! Save WEAR!
Save SHIFTING!

No wonder Ford's optional Overdrive is so popular. Saves you UP TO 15% on gasoline, and on car wear... because it lets the engine loaf while the new Overdrive gives you power for emergencies without gear-shifting. Adds greatly to smoother, quieter riding.

Engine loafs at 33 M.P.H. speed while the car hurtles at 50 M.P.H.
